Telephone, Jasper 59-M

G. W. Brewer was in Jasper Monday.

R. S. Pryor, of Jasper, was here Saturday with the G. A. R. boys.

W. M. Cross, of Victoria, was in attendance at the G. A. R. Reunion Saturday.

Misses Amy Lankester, and Virginia and Bess Hoge were the guests of Mrs. F. L. Minor Saturday night and Sunday.

Craig Rollins is at home from the Sack Creek convict camp, where he has been guarding prisoners for the past three months.

J. M. Bible, Comfort, Tenn., orders the News sent to him. He misses the dailymail little sheet.

B. Long, ex-trustee, kindly orders the News continued to him another year. Says it is indispensable to his family.

J. L. Dame, R. 2, Whitwell, but who lives only two toots and a holler from here, subscribes for the News for one year. May his shadow never get smaller.

J. C. Lambert, Jasper, one of the most conservative citizens of the county, orders the News for six months. We are very glad to have Mr. Lambert once more on our list.

Mat Ford, R. 2, Long Island, Ala., orders the News sent to him six months, and positively orders that it be not discontinued to him at the end of that time, for he wants it.

Dr. L. L. Janeway, Whitwell, Tenn., orders the News sent to him "till forbid." The doctor is the oldest practitioner in Marion county and enjoys the confidence and esteem of the people as a practitioner and friend.

C. H. Dykes, T. B. Lanford, and Frank Lockhart, Zeb Thompson and H. L. Brown, of Tracy City, were here Thursday en route for Dunlap, where they attended a three days meeting of the "Primitive Baptist church."

Sam McWilliams, of Dunlap, was among the visiting G. A. R. men Saturday. Mr. McWilliams always seems to enjoy these occasions, and his round, smiling face beams over with enjoyment. He added to his good deeds by subscribing for the News.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL OCCASION BY SCHOOL LEAGUE

The ice cream and pie supper, given by the School Improvement League Saturday night, was a success in every way. Although the weather was decidedly chilly, the cream sold rapidly, and for those who wanted something to warm the inner man, there was hot coffee or chocolate and pie. Several pies had been contributed, with coffee and chocolate, and $3.00 was realized from the sale of it, with no expenses. The ice cream brought $12.40, from which expenses will be deducted.

A short program was presented, Miss Bramlette and Miss Turner, teachers in the public school, contributing largely. They were assisted by Miss Mamie Lou Hall and Miss Bess Hoge, also of Jasper. Miss Bramlette delighted the audience with her vocal selections, with violin and piano accompaniment by Misses Turner and Hall. Miss Turner gave several violin selections, which took the fancy of the audience. Master Joe Leland also acted as accompanist for Miss Turner. Miss Bess Hoge, gave a very interesting reading, which was heartily enjoyed. Little Miss Virginia Roberson made her initial appearance on the local stage in a bright little song, well delivered. Miss Nina Raulde gave an excellent piano solo. Mrs. W. C. Roberson, of Jasper, who is the originator of the school improvement work in Marion county, spoke briefly, outlining the good that has been done, and the benefits that may arise from the organization of school improvement leagues throughout the county. She was introduced by Mrs. F. L. Minor, president of the local league. Excellent order prevailed, and nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the evening.

FLAG RAISING AT PINE HILL

Pine Hill, Tenn., Sept. 29.—A School Rally and Flag Raising was observed at Pine Hill school house today, commencing at 10 a. m. The exercises were opened by a march by Patriotic Order Sons of America, opening song was then sung, "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," after which prayer was conducted by Rev. L. F. Tate. Opening and welcome address was then delivered by Mr. J. E. Prosser, after which another song was sung and then a very lengthy speech was delivered by Rev. A. L. Panter, who always makes people welcome and fixes things up to date. Next there was the presentation of Bibles to the school teachers, by our most humble and worthy State President of the Patriotic Order Sons of America of the state camp of Tennessee, Mr. Clyde Griffith, who always does things up in his usual manner for the best interests of the order and people, after which dinner was spread by the good ladies of the community in the grove and everybody ate heartily. Then the flag was raised and at 1:15 p. m. the house was called to order by singing the opening song. Then Rev. W. A. Smith, of Chattanooga, was introduced by Rev. A. L. Panter, and a very interesting speech was delivered, on the subject, "The Flag of Our Country." Mr. Smith is a very fine speaker, and we would be very glad to have him make us another address in the near future. Next was speeches delivered by Hon. W. H. Wilson, and Prof. D. A. Tate, of South Pittsburg, who gave some very interesting talks on education and the betterment of schools, but they made very short talks, both having to catch the evening train back to their respective places of abode. Rev. L. F. Tate made a very brief talk, after which some few songs were sung, and everyone delighted with the day's enjoyment departed to their respective homes.

Jumpoff.

Fire is pleasant on the mountain. Have had some frost, but not a killing frost yet.

PAT! PAT! PITTI-PAT!

Clever Ruse of Deputy Condra to Capture a Crazy Man.

Pat-pat! pittpat! pat-pat pittpat! went deputy J. E. Condra on the porch of the Butler home at Whitwell one dark night last week while the insane man he was to arrest was stepping off a lively measure inside the house. The ruse worked and Will Butler came out before the sheriff and continued his dance, whereupon the deputy closed in on him and relieved him of a pistol he was waving and started him toward the county jail.

Butler had escaped from the insane asylum at Knoxville. Thru the woods and by devious ways he had returned to the good old county of Marion, and had appeared at the paternal abode in the hustling town of Whitwell. Thos. Butler is his father's name and he was glad to see the prodigal and all went well until the son found a loaded revolver around the house and proceeded to shoot out the light. He probably imagined he was a second Roosevelt shooting at hipopotami in the jungles of Africa. At any rate the light went out and with it the rest of the family. The fire was entirely too promiscuous for safety. Appeal was made to deputy Condra to go up to see what he could do, and so whistling a merry tune and with his hands in his pockets the deputy sauntered up to the Butler home. Inside William was indulging in lively step and the deputy, reaching the porch, decided that to clap for the dancer was about as sure to bring him out where he could handle him as anything. So assuming the pose of the negro on the wharf as he claps for the rhythmic tread of his fellows in terpsichorean measure, he commenced softly a rhythmic pat-pat pittpat outside. It succeeded, and directly Butler was before the deputy, still dancing. Getting close to him, Condra disarmed him and invited him to go with him.

Quote William "Are we to walk?" "No," said the deputy, "This is an automobile trip," and the pair went off triumphantly. As they sped down the road in a rimble Ford, William said he reckoned "this yer thing could head the passenger," in which view the deputy coincided. Condra is a very nervy officer and has a head full of schemes to take a prisoner and his ruse to bring the insane William from within has excited the laughter and admiration of his friends. It is said, however, that Butler did not grow violent until scared by a walnut falling onto the roof of the house from a nearby tree. This rendered him violent, imagining all sorts of things, even exceeding the weird recitals of De Motte Fouque. He searched for the weapon and finding it, turned loose a volley of expletives in lead.

MRS. GRUNDY GOES A-FISHING

The editor feeling that the weather was just right for ideal fall fishing, and having the fishing fever in his system, in company with three of our prominent business men, Mr. W. C. Abernathy, Fred Abraham, and H. J. Bowers, who were also lovers of the sport, hied themselves off to the small stream that runs at the foot of Waldens Ridge, the first of this week where there is a picturesque mill pond where they claim that fish abound. Arriving at our destination, Ketner's Mill, which is run by the Ketner Bros, we were apprized by Mr. Ketner, that he could not get any minnows for us but if we would get in his car, that he would run us up to a spring branch where there were plenty of them, that is if we knew how to sein, so Mr. Abernathy volunteered to pull one end of sein, and I the other, but Mr. Abraham said it wouldn't do to get his feet wet so he would carry the minnow bucket which he did to a queen's taste, becoming so excited that he jumped in the creek anyhow. Arriving back at the mill where we left Mr. Bowers in charge of our fishing paraphernalia we were surprised to learn that Mr. Bowers had caught a good string—of fish—with artificial bait, which we ate for supper that night, with all the eggs that we could find in the neighborhood.

After supper we gathered round the camp fire and told of fishing trips heretofore and sang those old familiar songs which brought tears to the eyes of Mr. Abernathy, he being pathetic. Then taking a boulder for a pillow we sank into oblivion and dreamed sweet dreams. Getting up at just the break of day for early morning fishing and catching a good many all day we came back that night feeling tired but better for the trip.—Mrs. Grundy, Tracy City.

Reynolds-Eldridge.

Cleveland, Tenn., 28.—Milton Reynolds, of Fayetteville, Tenn., and Miss Nellie Eldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eldridge, of near this city, were married at 1 o'clock yesterday at the home of the bride, the Rev. W. S. Neighbors, pastor of Lea Street M. E. church, south, officiating. Only a few relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

The couple left for Huntsville, Ala., where some time will be spent with relatives of the bridegroom, after which they will be at home to their friends at Fayetteville, Tenn., where Mr. Reynolds is engaged in the automobile business.

SCHOOL DEBT OF MARION COUNTY

The school debt of Marion county is $13,308.38, nearly one-half of the total amount collected on the school fund for 1915, which was $31,502.68. The amount collected for 1916 will be less on account of an unexplained loss in personal property valuation. This debt has been incurred in building new school houses over the county, a large number having been built, and it has reduced the school term to four months of each year. It will take nearly four years for the school fund to pay off this debt, and the school be placed on a longer term.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE.

In the Chancery Court of Marion County, Tenn.

Arthur Slaton et al. vs. Mary Peyton et al.

In this cause it appearing to the satisfaction of the Clerk and Master, from Complainant's Bill, which is sworn to, and affidavits on file, together with Sheriff's return, that the residence of defendant, Florence Harris, is unknown and after diligent search cannot be ascertained, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served. It is therefore ordered that publication be made in the Sequatchie Valley News, a newspaper published in the town of Sequatchie, for four consecutive weeks, commencing said nonresident defendant to appear at the November Rules of the Chancery Court, to be held at the court house in the town of Jasper on the first Monday of November, 1916, and plead, answer or demur to said Bill, or the same will be taken for confessed, and set for hearing ex parte as to her.

This the 25th day of September, 1916.
